A Glorious Record

"I have witnessed Fourth of July celebrations in all the largest cities of the west, but the one held in Tonopah during the past two days eclipsed every affair I attended," was the remark made today by a prominent western traveling man. No better tribute could have been paid this camp, for it was a clear tribute to the work of the Fourth of July committee which was made possible by the liberal contributions of the Tonopah business men.

The celebration was arranged with the idea, not only to please the residents of Tonopah, but to provide entertainment for the hundreds of visitors that happened to be in this city and who journeyed here for the purpose of witnessing the affair. There was never a lull in the two days' proceedings and entertainment was provided for people of all classes, all nationalities and all ages. The entire program has been free and the person of moderate means could enjoy it as well as the wealthier class.

Tonopah has set standard for hospitality that will be hard to excel. At the same time the people of this camp have made good on every proposition advertised for every event, even down to a foot race for 5-year-old boys has been pulled off as promised. In the years to come the Fourth of July celebration for the year 1912 will be an event to beat and a difficult matter to tie.

The small boy is now satisfied. The Fourth of July has come and gone and the carefully hoarded small fortune has been expended for confetti, exploding canes, torpedoes, roman candles and all the necessities that go to make noise and create discomfort. It will not be necessary to save the pennies and nickels again until Christmas time.

Ideas Cast Aside

The committee that drafted the democratic platform paid but little heed to the proposed plank of Senator Newlands disfranchising the negroes and sending all colored people back to Africa. It is probable that the committee ignored the proffered assistance of the Nevada senator who would seek publicity on his own account by making the democratic convention pull his chestnuts from the fire.

With Newlands and Bryan on the platform committee there could be but one result and that would not be the acceptance of the ideas as advocated by the Chevy Chase senator. It is not Bryan's nature to share publicity with any other person when he is in the spotlight, and there is no wonder that the carefully cherished and nourished planks of Newlands did not see the light of day.

In Andrew Carnegie had answered the piteous appeal for a pension as made by Woodrow Wilson when he endeavored to secure a slice of the pension fund for disabled college professors, the democracy would be without a presidential candidate this year.

"He who fights must bear the scars," declared William Jennings Bryan. What a scarred old veteran he must be.

The toy balloon man who engaged in business here during the big celebration just passed was forced to import his wares already filled owing to the lack of the necessary substance to fill the little bags. Tonopah has never been a hot air camp.

Even Roosevelt and Bryan have been forgotten during the two days just passed, while politics has been a tabooed subject. A two days' rest has worked wonders with the local politicians and they will resume their labors with greater zeal than before.

It was strange how many grown ups had business in Tonopah during the last two days. Large numbers admitted, however, that they were here to enjoy the celebration, but there were others who insisted that business drew them.

Not a single accident occurred to mar the Fourth of July in Tonopah. It isn't always the safe and sane Fourth that is bloodless, but it is knowing how to carry out celebrations that results in a no accident record.

The widely advertised Frontier day held recently in Cheyenne did not compare to the Fourth of July celebration held in Tonopah. For real enjoyment, Tonopah had the Wyoming affair backed off the boards.

Everybody is doing it. Doing what? Kicking candidates' records around.

OPEN HOUSE IS KEPT BY TONOPAH LODGE OF ELKS

VISITING MEMBERS ROYALLY ENTERTAINED DURING BIG CELEBRATION

The Tonopah lodge of Elks kept open house during the two days' Fourth of July celebration. The open house was for the benefit of members of the order and members of their families and it is estimated by the lodge officials that fully 1,500 people were entertained and cared for during the two days.

The lodge room was transformed into a banquet room during the open house period and light and solid refreshments were served during both days. On the first day of the celebration over 600 people were served and yesterday the total for the two days reached the 1,500 mark. Chas. Puddy Grimes and Bob Pohl, assisted by Cook Bob Christian, in turn assisted by Assistant Cook Cavanaugh, handled the crowd in a manner that would indicate that they were professional cooks and waiters. F. N. Jones, from a comfortable seat in the club rooms, superintended the operations and was ably assisted by Ross Condon.

Many out-of-town Elks were entertained, in addition to the local members of the order.
